YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann
Landers

Somebody Else Is Paying Light Bill

Dear Ann Landers: When I was 18, I fell madly in love with a fellow at work. We went steady for three years. I'm a very demonstrative person and made no secret of the fact that I was nuts about him. All he could say was "he thought I was a good kid."

After three years of Nothingville, I gave up and started to date another fellow who was older and more settled. This guy was very outspoken about his love for me and we were married within the year.

Here's the problem. My old flame wants me to have coffee with him every day. Since we work in the same department there's no avoiding him. I confess a spark of the old feeling still exists—and I get a lot of satisfaction out of hearing him say sweet things he wouldn't say when we were going together.

Could it be now that I'm married he sees me in a different light? If so, why? —PUZZLEMENT

Dear Puzzlement: He sees you in a different light all right—and he likes this light much better because somebody else is paying the light bill.

Now that you are married and no longer a threat to his bachelorhood, he's relaxed and those sweet phrases come easy. Stop having coffee with this phony or you'll wind up with more trouble than you need.

Dear Ann Landers: My brother has been having a lot of trouble with his 17-year-old son. He has been arrested three times in the last 18 months.

Recently he got into something serious. Although he was able to prove he was not guilty of the charges, he was in the car with the boys who were.

His father has decided the boy is no good and that these toughs who get into serious trouble should not be allowed to use their youth as an excuse. He says they should be put in prison with criminals, if they act like criminals.

Do you think it would help solve the juvenile delinquency problem if the law got real tough with these kids? Please answer in the paper.—R.E.F. (Continued on Page 12)

Fiesta of Flowers

Las Colinas Show Ends Year's Work

Las Colinas Garden Club of Palos Verdes Riviera, Torrance presented "La Fiesta de Flores" on Thursday, May 25. The club's annual flower show was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McIntyre, 4926 Calle de Arboles, Torrance.

All members competed with entries of flower arrangements, specimens, dish gardens, etc. Judging was Mrs. S. Verlan and Mrs. R. Lindsey. "La Fiesta de Flores" was opened to neighbors and friends from 2 until 4. Several children had entries and these were judged separately.

The flower show was the last activity of Las Colinas Garden Club for this year other than the installation of new officers at a luncheon to be held in June. The garden club members are proud of the past year's accomplishments. They purchased a Plantation of Pines to be planted in burned-out areas of Angeles Forest.

They also raised enough money to purchase the plantings for the north side of Vista Montana, the entrance road to the Palos Verdes Riviera section of Torrance. These shrubs are to be planted and maintained by the city of Torrance as are the plantings for Los Arboles Park which were purchased by the club last year. Not only beauty in and around the homes but beauty of the whole area is the goal of Las Colinas Garden Club and its members.

Mission Group Stages Mother-Daughter Event

Women's Mission Society of the Torrance First Baptist Church held its annual Mother-Daughter banquet at the church on May 19 with 250 mothers and daughters in attendance.

The Fellowship hall, scene of the party, was beautifully transformed into a Japanese tea garden featuring a waterfall, fern, palms, cherry blossoms and twinkling colored lights.

The dinner was served by 20 men of the Men's Brotherhood who acted as "singing waiters."

Immediately following the dinner, a fashion showing of mother-daughter costumes was enjoyed. Also featured were the latest fashions for teen-agers. Mrs. Walter Tussing, master of ceremonies of the evening served as fashion consultant.

Special entertainment was a Japanese Ceremonial Tea given by five young women from the Gardena Valley Baptist Church under the direction of their teacher, Somi Mochizuki.

Soloist was Mitsey Yonemura, accompanied by Jean Hardin at the piano. Other special music was a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Walton of Redondo Beach.

The welcome for the evening was given by Mrs. Perry L. Connett, president.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Joseph Zamrle, who spoke on the theme of the evening, "Jesus, Lord Over the World." The Love Gift presentation was made by Sara Angel. The gift will be used for the Tohoku Youth Camp in Japan and other American Baptist Mission Fields.
